

Counselor Qualifications

Housing and Credit Counseling, Inc. (HCCI) housing counselors have received extensive training and receive ongoing continuing education; however, they are not attorneys and are not able to provide legal advice. HCCI counselors provide education that will help the client in understanding his or her housing situation and in deciding a course of action. This education is based on information provided by the client.